

CLARKE ENERGY SETS UP THEREFORE™ FOR PROCESSING PURCHASE ORDERS

Clarke Energy is part of Kohler Co. It is a multi national company specializing in selling, manufacturing, and maintaining power plants that use gas engines. Mrs. Tort, CFO, tells us about their experience with Therefore™.

In 2019, we introduced specifications aiming to streamline our processing of purchase orders while avoiding manual verification and loss of documents. In our field of work, there are processes that are hard to follow and may take three weeks to complete. This has an impact on all our services. Today, processing time is four days on average and we have all the documents readily available: the quote, the plans, and all electronic exchanges – this facilitates decision making.

WHY THEREFORE™?

We considered various solutions. In the end, we chose Therefore™ because it seemed simple and ergonomic – that turned out to be true. Furthermore, customer service was great for our entire team, our wishes were understood very well and everything went smoothly.

“Everyone is really enthusiastic and wants to use Therefore™, it is rare to see an IT project accepted like this.”

At the moment, we are preparing the processing of supplier invoices and the management of quotes needing to be approved by multiple people before they are returned to the client.
